Cut the Bull

Take Charge of Your Story

RALPH SCOTT

Sunday, June 25, 2017 • 2 pm

Book Passage • 51 Tamal Vista Blvd • Corte Madera

A professional developmental editor for more years than he would prefer to consider, Ralph Scott works with new authors on fiction and nonfiction projects with a specialty in character-driven novels, thrillers, mysteries, memoirs, sci fi/sci fantasy, dystopian lifestyles, self-help, and children's literature.

When not preparing client manuscripts for agency and/or publisher submission, Ralph authors children's literature. He has more than 1,600 children's poems in his portfolio, and more than 20 children's books in various stages of development. He's about to introduce the first children's book in history where the alien characters walk off the pages of the book (with the help of 'interactive augmented reality').

Check out: Our Teacher is a Creature (ourteacherisacreature.com), the story of a substitute 4th grade teacher from Mars who is currently on assignment in Topeka. For his children's story, Ralph's first out-of-control group is staffed by his five-year-old daughter and aspiring author-illustrator, LuLu. She is also credited with naming their goldfish Mary.

MEETINGS: $5 MEMBERS • $10 NON-MEMBERS

A NONPROFIT 501(c)(3) EDUCATIONAL CORPORATION, THE CALIFORNIA WRITERS CLUB SPONSORS EVENTS THAT ARE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.
